2. Ministry of Finance, (State Taxes) Dept. of Revenue, G.O.I F.No.S-31013/14/2010-SO(ST), dated 4.3.2011
3. CCT, Karnataka Ref.No.KSA/CR.248/2008-09, dated 21.9.2010 and 6.11.2011

Many States including West Bengal, Karnataka, Puducherry and Kerala have started issuing online statutory forms, which do not carry the signature in ink and the manually affixed seal of the issuing authority. It has come to notice that assessing officers are insisting that dealers should get such certificate signed in ink and manually sealed before acceptance.

2. In the reference 1st cited, wherein it has been clarified that the Central Sales Tax (Registration and Turnover) Rules, 1957 do not specifically mention that a manually affixed rubber seal is to be used in the 'C' Form. Further, it has also been clarified that seal printed through machine or computer is equally authentic under the said Rules. The authenticity of such forms can be readily verified online.

3. Hence, the following instructions are issued to all the officers in this Department for strict adherence:

- (i) Computer generated online 'C' Forms filed by the selling dealer and computer generated "F" Forms should be accepted without insisting on manually affixed office seal and signature in ink of the concerned issuing authority.
- (ii) The signature with seal of the buying/issuing dealer in the declaration Form/Certificate and in the Annexure is necessary, and should be ensured before the acceptance of the original declaration.

- (iv) Some of the States have provided the facility of verifying authenticity of declaration forms by sending SMS on mobile phones. This facility can also be used where available.
- (v) The officers shall refer any doubtful Declaration Form/Certificates to the Inter-State Investigating Cell for further verification.
